Professor Henry Rogers Seager
Southport
Connecticut

Dear Sir:

On behalf of the Council of the American Numismatic Society I am directed to communicate their sympathy in the loss that has come to you through the death of your brother.

We were all greatly shocked at the news when it reached us. Mr. Seager had not been an associate for many years, but as you know he had published a monograph in our series and he was very close both to our President, Mr. Edward T. Newell, and myself, and there is in consequence a very deep feeling of personal loss.

Msy I ask that you communicate to your mother an expression of our sympathy when a suitable occasion presents itself?

Very sincerely yours

My dear Mrs. Noe:

Thank you for your kind note conveying the sympathy of the Council of the American Numismatic Society on my brother's, Richard's, sudden death. His mother and I deeply appreciate your interest in Richard, and if anything could lighten our sense of loss, it is such expressions as those contained in your letter.

Very sincerely Yours

above address, as I should like to send them to friends of hers.

Thanking you for your trouble in the matter,

Very sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Noe:

Thank you for sending me so promptly the three copies of Richards' monograph. Mrs. McCabe and two of Richards' friends will be very glad to have them.

May I say that it is matter of regret to me, personally, that Richard left all of his coins to the British Museum?

He, of course, had no thought of dying for many years. He was in negotiation for the collection of his English friend, Major Cameron, and I think intended when he received them to separate out his duplicates for the American Numismatic Society, in which, as you know, he was becoming increasingly interested. But the end overtook him so suddenly, that the contemplated purchase was not made,

and there was no time for attaching any codicil to his will.

With appreciation of your kindness in sending these monographs,

Very sincerely yours,

Henry R. Seager

Dear Professor Seager:

It was very good of you to write me as you did regarding the collection of coins left by your brother. Under a Will made before he became interested in our Society, we could hardly expect to have him "remember" us. Our greater sorrow is that he was not spared to complete some of the work which we had planned to publish, in which several of the coins he had collected so zealously had figured.

Very respectfully yours,

Secretary
